

languageintelligence

Professional Language Services

Professional Language Translation for the Clean Technology Industries

Translation for the Future

There are significant opportunities for manufacturers of Clean Technology to market their products internationally. The quickest and most effective way to target rapidly expanding international markets is to speak the language of your customers.

Language Intelligence works with Alternative Energy and Clean Technology manufacturers by translating and customizing websites, software, marketing collateral and technical documentation.

Unique Translation Requirements

Language Intelligence understands the need for high-quality translation delivered on time and within budget. We partner with our Alternative Energy and Clean Technology industry clients to effectively integrate our proven translation processes into theirs.

Subject Matter Expertise

Proper translator selection is crucial for the highly technical content common to the Alternative Energy and Clean Tehcnology industries. Language Intelligence works with highly skilled, native-speaking translators who have proven subject matter expertise. Specific areas of expertise include:

- Biofuels
- Biomass
- Fuel Cells
- Geothermal Energy
- Hydropower
- Nuclear Energy
- Photovoltaics
- Solar Power
- Water Treatment
- Wind Power

Translation of Technical Documentation

Power and energy have become sources of increasing concern on a global level, making translation crucial as a vehicle for communication across cultures and languages. Competition within the global marketplace means that your products and technology must be available to foreign markets as well as all accompanying documentation.

Our project managers, translators and technical staff have experience working with a variety of formats and content types including the following:

- Operator Guides
- User manuals
- Help documentation
- Marketing Collateral
- Process Documentation
- Software
- Technical Manuals
- Training Materials
- Website content

Contact us to learn more:

Kelly Mattucci

Client Services Manager

t: (585) 244-5578 ext.33

e: kmattucci@languageintelligence.com