

Intellireview reduces the time, cost and effort necessary for conducting a successful translation review.

Every reviewer prefers to work with copy in its final format.

The challenge is determining the best method when a translator must later implement changes and update translation memory. Aside from this duplication of effort, other common linguistic review challenges are:

- File transfer
- Version control
- Streamlining feedback
- Accessing the source content during review
- Communication between reviewers and linguists

intellireview™ solves all of these.

The intellireview™ system displays the content for review in its final format including complex graphics and tables. Through an easy-to-use interface it also features:

- A view pane displaying the original source text
- A comment field for easy communication among project members
- A direct link to the translation memory for instant updating
- Web-based access means no software to download

Review translated content in a familiar format and in context.

Access translated files through your browser. Anywhere. Anytime.

Unique features allow for easy collaboration between team members.
